

This was the second assignment I ever did on Illustrator. I was asked to do a skull with very specific features, to show my ability to utilize basic tools on Illustrator. Instead, I decided to challenge myself by giving my skull a 3D look. Had I known how to use gradients back then, I would have been able to enhance this even more.

